JOIN OUR ALLIANCE

Look At Us has in place a network of the world's most outstanding doctors – surgeons, pediatricians, ENT's – other ancillary providers (including psychologists, occupational therapists and orthodontists), like-minded organizations and donors all assembled to educate, support, counsel and care for craniofacial patients and their families.

Together, we fund direct patient care and provide hearing tests, hearing aids and other medical devices to those who cannot afford them. Want to help? Do so by joining our alliance.

OUR MISSION

The mission of Look At Us is to advocate for those with craniofacial differences, to fund surgeries domestically and abroad, and to supply medical devices to children in need. We are dedicated to helping affected families navigate the seemingly uncertain roads ahead of them.

OUR STORY

The catalyst for Look At Us dates back to the summer of 2002, when the son of our founder, Rob Williams, was born with severe craniofacial differences. What should have been the most joyous occasion for Rob and his wife, Jennifer, became shrouded by worry, confusion and – truth be told – fear, the moment an obstetrics nurse placed their precious newborn into Rob’s hands early on a July morning. Rob Williams would be honored to share with your organization his powerful story and details about how Look At Us is changing lives and supporting families.

MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Children born with craniofacial differences are just like your grandkids, your sons, your daughters, your nieces and your nephews – they just happen to look different. Yet these are beautiful, bright, exceptional kids, who – despite the challenging hands they have been dealt – deserve to thrive.

Unfortunately, so many of them and their families do not have the resources, financial and otherwise, to manage the difficulties they face, which is why the support of Look At Us is so critical. But our ability to help these families hinges upon the help of others. Just as they need us, Look At Us needs you.

It is your generosity that enables us to furnish permanent, life-changing reconstructive surgeries and hearing aids to boys and girls with craniofacial differences who would otherwise go without or receive substandard care. So please give to Look At Us by visiting the Secure Donation Page on our website. The simple truth is that your donation will be transformative. Literally transformative.

GET HELP

For families who qualify, Look At Us helps pay for reconstructive surgeries, provides hearing aids and other medical equipment to children in need, and covers miscellaneous travel and lodging expenses associated with medical appointments and procedures. If you seek assistance, please download an application from our website or contact us for more information.
